How Women Transformed Walt Disney's Animation

Saturday, October 7, 2017 • 2 pm • Taper Auditorium

From the earliest pioneers of hand-rendered animated films, to the advent of digital technology, women have been at the forefront of the animation medium, yet their extraordinary contributions have largely gone unrecognized or undocumented, until now. Join Mindy Johnson, author of the landmark volume Ink & Paint - The Women of Walt Disney's Animation, as she raises the celluloid curtain on the remarkable 'her-story' of women in animation.

Extensively researched with the full support of the entire Walt Disney Studios archival resources, along with a multitude of private collections, this essential volume features numerous firsthand accounts, newly discovered materials and production documentation, as well as never before seen photography and artwork. This groundbreaking triumph redefines the collective history of animation.

Award-winning author and historian Mindy Johnson takes readers on an epic journey into the unexplored realms of our collective past. Her critically acclaimed debut title, Tinker Bell - An Evolution, chronicled the development of everyone's favorite fairy, was honored with consecutive Family Choice Awards. Mindy is a frequent speaker and writer on early cinema, animation, women's history, and creativity. In addition to being an award-winning playwright, songwriter, musician, and contributing artist on several internationally acclaimed recordings, Mindy continues to teach, write, and consult for various entertainment entities...between tea breaks.
